The place where insights in life sciences coalesce

Why in Nihonbashi?
The place where insights in life sciences coalesce

Nihonbashi, where the traditional rubs shoulders with the cutting edge, has historically been a wellspring of new value creation. Many of Japan’s representative pharmaceutical businesses have their main offices here, and insights in life sciences have accumulated in Nihonbashi since the Edo Period. Centrally located in the heart of Tokyo, Nihonbashi boasts an inviting urban environment that offers a wide range of retail, lodging, and other facilities and is the focus of attention at both the domestic and international levels for the media, the general public, and investors. Nihonbashi was designated a global life science business hub by the Tokyo prefectural government in its Long-Term Vision for Tokyo that was formulated in 2014.

Creating New Life-Science Industries:
A Platform for Human Interaction and Information Exchange

LINK-J is a platform for creating new life-science industries with the four functions of “bring together”, “connect”, “grow” and “take off.”
LINK-J brings together a wide range of parties in the life sciences field. Creating new ideas, connecting people, and accelerating new initiatives. Providing an ecosystem to support open innovation.
